Research Day

North Florida/South Georgia Veterans Health System

Research Day is part of the Department of Veterans Affairs National VA Research Week that is held annually. The purpose of the National VA Research Week and our Research Day is to celebrate the achievements of VA researchers and the role they play in providing high quality care for Veterans and their contributions in advancing medical science and care. Through the VA's national and local events, the aim is to educate Veterans, the public, elected leaders, educational institutions and the media about the research being conducted at the VA, and its impact on treating and preventing disease and disability.
